

Attachment A

Proposed 50' concrete pole at the Panama City Waste Water Treatment Plant. This seems like the most logical location on the site, however, it would be pending approval by the City of Panama City.

Geo-tech soils report will be required for this location prior to execution, and the City's Engineering will be required to identify that there is nothing in the ground (utility conflicts) at the chosen location.